The Board of Trustees of University of the West (UWest) is pleased to invite nominations and applications for the position of President. The President is the chief executive officer of the University, is responsible for the administration of all aspects of its operations, and provides educational standards and leadership of high quality to maintain and advance UWest’s standing both in the community and in regard to state, regional, and national accreditation. The President also maintains relationships with religious, community, governmental, and professional bodies, and represents the University to the public.

For 27 years, UWest has had a special mission: to provide a whole-person education in a context informed by Buddhist wisdom and values and to facilitate cultural understanding and appreciation between East and West. At the campus in Rosemead, the University offers ten degree programs: four undergraduate and six graduate (Business, English, Liberal Arts, Psychology, Religious Studies, and Buddhist Chaplaincy) and is home to more than 300 students from over 25 countries and many different religions. One of many ambitious and thriving enterprises in the San Gabriel Valley, UWest encompasses 11 acres and contributes to Rosemead’s status as a thriving combination of retail, commercial, and educational institutions.

UWest is part of the Fo Guang Shan University Consortium, which also includes Fo Guang University (FGU) and Nan Hua University (NHU) in Taiwan, Nan Tien Graduate Institute in Australia, and Guan Ming College in the Philippines. Students from FGU and NHU regularly participate in 2+2 degree programs that allow for two years of study in Taiwan and two in the United States, resulting in degrees from both UWest and their Taiwanese school. UWest students have also studied at FGU in the graduate program for Buddhist studies. There is an effort to build on the consortium offerings, UWest has begun its online education program development, by the end of 2019-20 school year, UWest will be offering ESL, Bridge and college English classes to consortium schools as well as other courses based on demand.

The Board seeks an energetic, visionary, and entrepreneurial leader who respects and resonates with Buddhist values, has demonstrated success as a higher education leader and fund-raiser with experience in a religiously-focused educational environment, and preferably has experience as a teacher-scholar. The appointment to the presidency is expected to take effect in January of 2020.

THE UNIVERSITY

Institutional Background. University of the West was incorporated as “Hsi Lai University” in 1990 by Venerable Master Hsing Yun, and it opened its doors in spring 1991. The University is a pioneering partnership between Chinese and American Buddhists to establish an American university integrating liberal arts traditions and Buddhist wisdom. In the summer of 1996 the university moved to the City of Rosemead, where it has become an independent institution of higher learning based on the model of a U.S. university.

The current name, University of the West, was adopted in April 2004. For the past several decades, the school has provided a world class liberal arts curriculum while also preparing Buddhists for leadership in the West. The Digital Sanskrit Canon Project and the Center for the Study of Minority and Small Business have also been established to further this mission. Today, while continuing to fill a need in the Buddhist community, UWest serves students from all walks of life with its range of programs in comparative religion, chaplaincy, business, psychology, English, and liberal arts.

Mission, Vision, and Values. UWest is guided by statements of mission, vision, and values that place a liberal arts and sciences education of highest quality at the core:

Mission: The mission of University of the West is to provide a whole-person education in a context informed by Buddhist wisdom and values and to facilitate cultural understanding and appreciation between East and West.

Vision: UWest will model Whole-Person Education through engaged and interdisciplinary learning in all programs, an exceptional, caring faculty and staff who fulfill the unique mission, and service projects seeking to improve local and global communities. UWest graduates will practice social responsibility, value diversity, and pursue lifelong learning and spiritual growth. UWest will be a widely recognized name.

Values: UWest instills the values of Character, Compassion, and Community in its students, programs, and business practices.

Principles: In pursuing its mission, UWest:

● Provides a whole-person education, highlighting where the intellectual, spiritual, emotional, and creative converge.

● Offers an education as unique as each student, supplying the tools and support for students to develop their own paths to academic success.
Delivers a strong liberal arts education that draws from Buddhist wisdom and strives toward a global perspective, to ensure that graduates can compete and contribute in the modern world.

- Embraces and celebrates diversity as a gateway to wisdom and understanding.
- Creates an environment of compassion, encouraging students to pursue equality and to act in service to others.
- Presents opportunities for intellectual and cultural exchange between East and West.
- Seeks and develops students of strong character who are able to lead others and make decisions motivated by the common good.
- Establishes space and guidance for students to achieve self-knowledge for a peaceful and fulfilling life.
- Promotes spiritual knowledge, guiding students to find their purpose and meaning through “contemplative education.”
- Believes in education as conversation, with students and faculty learning with, from, and on behalf of one another.

Strategic Plan. The University of West Strategic Plan for 2015-2020 was finalized in March 2015 following a two-year institution-wide dialogue. It was updated in March 2016 and in September, 2017. It sets six goals, each with numerous strategies, for the university to pursue as an institution in the coming five years. The strategic plan is a “living document” and subject to periodic revision as goals and strategies are achieved, modified, or eliminated. During the 2015 calendar year, University departments developed their own strategic plans aligned with the institutional plan. For the most recent iteration of this plan, see http://www.uwest.edu/wp-content/uploads/2017/03/Strategic-Plan-Final-3.0-1.pdf. The University is in the process of developing a Strategic Plan for 2020-25.

The Academic Program. UWest prides itself on its academic program, with degrees and course offerings designed to provide knowledge and skills relevant to the discerning student and the discerning employer, satisfying students’ present interests, and preparing them for future ambitions. Students are encouraged to see the whole campus as their classroom, learning with, from, and on behalf of others. Small class sizes allow for a more personalized and effective learning environment, and an emphasis on whole-person education highlights where the intellectual, spiritual, emotional, and creative converge.

U West offers undergraduate degrees in four areas:
- Bachelor of Arts in Business Administration, with concentrations in Accounting, Computer Information Systems, International Business, and Marketing;
- Bachelor of Arts in English, with concentrations in Literature and TESOL;
- Bachelor of Arts in Liberal Arts, with self-designed concentrations; and
- Bachelor of Arts in Psychology.

Six graduate degrees are offered in four areas:
- Master of Divinity in Buddhist Chaplaincy and Doctor of Buddhist Ministry;
● Master of Business Administration;
● Master of Arts in Psychology – Marriage and Family Therapy; and
● Master of Arts in Religious Studies, and
● Doctor of Philosophy in Religious Studies.

In addition to these degree programs, certificates are offered in: English Language, TESOL, and Business Administration (undergraduate, graduate, post-graduate).

Accreditation. The final phase of UWest’s reaffirmation of accreditation process with WASC consisted of two main reviews: the Capacity and Preparatory Review (CPR), which took place in 2010, and the Educational Effectiveness Review (EER). The EER began with a self-study, the EER report, which UWest submitted to WSCUC in August 2014, followed by the EER visit, October 27-29, 2014. The EER team visit was experienced as an affirming and constructive event that enjoyed wide participation by UWest students, faculty, trustees, staff, and alumni.

In 2015, University of the West received the WASC Senior College and University Commission’s action letter announcing the decision to reaffirm UWest’s accreditation for the period of seven years. The Commission has scheduled UWest’s next Accreditation Site Visit in fall 2021. A special visit was conducted in spring 2017 to review the university’s progress in the areas of strategic planning, analysis of disaggregated student success data, and development of graduate culture. A regular Mid-Cycle Review and progress report were submitted successfully in spring 2019 with no further action required.

Board of Trustees. Overall governance of the University lies in the hands of its 15-member Board of Trustees. The Trustees select the president, oversee all faculty and senior administrative appointments, monitor the budget, supervise the endowment, and protect University property. For further information on the Board, see http://www.uwest.edu/about-uwest/board-of-trustees/.

Faculty. The UWest faculty is comprised of 14 full-time members and an additional 35-40 adjunct members who constitute 12-15 full-time equivalents. The Faculty Senate is working with the administration to develop policies for appointment and promotion that follow more closely the American tenure model.

Students and Student Life. The UWest student body numbers approximately 300, of whom approximately half are domestic and half international, the latter coming from more than 25 countries, particularly Taiwan, China, Korea, and Thailand. Forty percent (40%) of the students are undergraduates, while 60% are at the graduate level. The University has approximately 850 alumni/ae.

On-campus housing is available and convenient, especially for students coming from outside of the state or the country, and off-campus housing is abundant. Students pursue their academic, personal, and career goals in an environment which is engaging, culturally diverse, and inclusive. In keeping with UWest’s mission, Residential Life promotes a holistic approach to independent living, leadership development, personal growth, community building, and collective responsibility. Students have the opportunity to join any of a wide variety of student organizations—from Martial Arts to Music to Badminton. For quiet reflection, meditation, or study, the campus has numerous spots, including a Meditation Center and Buddhist Shrine. For recreation, UWest has a gym open 24/7; a swimming pool; courts for outdoor sports; and a recreation center featuring indoor table sports. Whittier Narrows Regional Park is across the street, with recreation fields, walking and jogging trails, lakes, golf, and other activities. The nearby San Gabriel Mountains offer many opportunities for outdoor adventures including hiking, biking, camping, swimming, skiing, and more.

Campus. The UWest campus of eleven acres is located in the city of Rosemead, approximately 30 minutes from downtown Los Angeles. There are six main buildings: Administration, Education, Auditorium/Bookstore, Cafeteria/Recreation, and two dormitories. Outdoors, there is a swimming pool and outdoor courts for basketball, badminton, and volleyball. The surrounding community offers many culturally diverse restaurants, shopping destinations, and entertainment opportunities.

Finances. UWest operates on an annual budget of $8 million. It maintains a reserve fund of c. $17 million, which functions as an endowment. The annual cost of attendance for full-time students residing on campus varies from $25,000 to $30,000, depending on program of enrollment and type of room. For off-campus students, the costs are in the range of $30-35,000. In addition to institutional scholarships, the Financial Aid Office administers Federal, State, and University funds in compliance with regulatory requirements while recognizing and respecting the needs and values of our diverse student body.

THE FUTURE:

Challenges and Opportunities

University of the West recognizes that it possesses several important strengths and distinctive features:

- a mission- and values-driven institution, under Buddhist influence;
- small in size, with resulting close personal relationships;
- a school of opportunity, being affordable and non-selective;
- on a growth trajectory; and
- enjoying positive community relations.

Beyond these, the constituencies of University of the West—trustees, faculty, administration, staff, and students—have identified key challenges and opportunities for the University at this point in its young history and are eager to see—and play a role in—significant progress in these areas. Correspondingly, there is anticipation of presidential leadership to inspire the University toward accomplishing these advancements and also to identify possible new directions that will enable UWest to be increasingly successful in the 21st century.

Identity and Prominence. Through focused and collaborative efforts, UWest has the potential to have a stronger image and become better known, particularly in Southern California. It has the challenge to undertake more effective marketing to sharpen UWest’s identity as a liberal arts college and to solidify its niche as a faith-based institution with Buddhist values.

Enrollment. In response to one of the primary goals enunciated in the Strategic Plan, UWest seeks to increase its enrollment to 500 (400 FTEs) by 2025, with at least 60% at the undergraduate level. This increase is intended to be achieved from both domestic and international communities and at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, while maintaining the University’s current professionalism, its uniqueness, and its character. One approach to achieving this growth is to broaden the graduate program offerings.

Finances. UWest needs to become more financially independent from the current significant level of support from Fo Guang Shan and other donors. Major advances in all forms of fund-raising must be pursued, and one aspect of this challenge is to establish and support a fully-functioning office of development.

Curriculum. Also in response to the Strategic Plan, UWest is challenged to make significant advances its curricular program, in particular to increase the interdisciplinary nature of the curriculum and its power to transform the lives of its students both intellectually and socially. A related opportunity, as mentioned above, is to broaden the scope and direction of offerings at the graduate level. U. West has embarked on launching an online education program in collaboration with domestic and international institutions of higher learning. The program will also include ESL, Bridge, and College English courses along other courses as demand arises.

Community Connections. Although UWest has standing in Rosemead and the San Gabriel Valley, it is not as well known throughout Southern California as it needs to be in order to maintain a healthy balance of domestic undergraduate students. To achieve greater recognition, it is important to reach out in a wide variety of ways to like-minded institutions in order to create relationships and partnerships that will result in a higher profile and increased applications. Part of the challenge here is to “demystify” the Buddhist nature of the University’s educational program.

Faculty. In order to attract and retain the strongest possible faculty in the curricular areas offered by UWest, the new president will have the opportunity to continue current efforts focused on the standardization of the appointment and promotion procedures for faculty and also to seek appropriate ways to increase various of self-governance.
University of the West seeks a president with the professional background and the personal qualities that will enable them to lead and inspire the University in addressing the opportunities and challenges outlined above. Overall, UWest seeks a wise and modern visionary who respects Buddhist values and has the capability and drive to manage and direct all parts of a small but complex environment.

Executive Experience and Capabilities. UWest’s next president should have the professional background constituting an excellent fit with the University’s distinctive characteristics as a fledgling, Buddhist-related liberal arts university in the large Los Angeles metropolitan area. These include the following:

- Demonstrated understanding of faith-connected higher education.
- Deep commitment to the University’s mission and values, combined with the desire and capability to incorporate these values of character, compassion, and community into their leadership and into all aspects of UWest’s programs.
- The desire to help UWest grow and professionalize and in the process maintain its uniqueness and character.
- Experience as President, Vice President, Provost, or Vice Provost in managing the budget and finances of non-profit, religiously-based institutions and dealing effectively with limited resources.
- Demonstrated success in raising funds for and increasing the resources available to institutions of higher education, as well as in shaping a productive development office.
- Clear understanding of the importance of effective marketing in maintaining enrollment strength.
- Successful leadership experience in bridging the divides that can arise between segments of a community with different interests and backgrounds, and in uniting the efforts of these parties towards a common goal.
- Knowledge of and experience with Southern California demography, with the wide variety of educational institutions in Southern California, and especially with the challenges associated with the current status of DACA.
- Desire to commit to lead a small but diverse team to develop internal capacity to respond to external forces.

Personal Qualities: In addition to the above professional experience and capabilities, and in order that they may be most effectively used for UWest’s advancement, the president is also expected to possess—indeed exemplify—certain essential personal qualities that enable them to mentor, model, and motivate:
● Highly developed interpersonal and communicative skills enabling effective interaction with a wide variety of individuals and groups.
● Dedication to humanistic values common to all people: compassion, integrity, and service.
● A welcoming spirit and open-door policy that will invite conversation with all members of the UWest community, as well as their questions, participation, and contributions.
● A desire for frequent involvement with students and the willingness to be “out and about” on a regular basis and when appropriate to bend down and “be in the trenches” with them.
● The stamina necessary to meet the constant requirement for engaging with the University’s constituencies and outside groups and for sparking enthusiasm in others to give the best of themselves to the University’s cause.
● The diplomacy necessary to deal effectively with tensions and divides that can arise in a complex environment.
● A natural articulateness: effective and polished skills at speaking in public to many different audiences.
